It times will only revive,

And there stands old Meade.

And Glendene has something to be proud of, a Democratic constable.

Our Rosetta correspondent has a little of the fire of Democracy left in her yet.

This country owes Europe $3,000,000,000 on which she pays $1,800,000 annual interest.

The Democrats were not in it, says an exchange. Oh, yes they were in it big while they lasted.

State Treasurer Hale expects to resume the payment of State Treasury warrants by Dec. 1.

Senator Brice thinks Vice-President Stevenson will be the next Democratic nominee for President.

We've seen the time when Democrats were a little bit jollier than they were at Hardinsburg last Monday.

Well we can probably knock out Benjamin Harrison in '96, if there are no landladies to encounter.

One of the richest women in America died in New York a few days ago. Her wealth was estimated at $3,100,000.

Owensboro did a wise thing to vote for brick streets, and Cloverport can furnish all the brick necessary for putting them in shape.

Say, you Republicans, please don't mention that little affair of Nov. 6. Let's talk about good roads or something else that's not so painful.

Meade county Democrats don't know that there has been a landslide only when a Breckenridge county Democrat steps over and mentions it.

GROVER Cleveland's perversity and the Democrats staying at home is what done it. There may be some good to come out of it later and further on.

The millers of Chicago have decided to suspend operations in their mills for six weeks, in order to force up the price of flour by curtailing the output.

Why has not the Fiscal Court of this county put into operation the new law governing the work of the public roads? Why does it not do it even now?

M. MEYER, BRUNER, says he has been through a cyclone that swept away the roof of his house, but he didn't feel half so bad as he did when the one of Nov. 6, struck him.

REPUBLICANS are already discussing who they will put up to run for the Legislature next year, while the Democrats have concluded not to take up the subject at all just yet.

The General Manager of the Acme Brick Company told the News last week that since he had taken the company's business out of the hands of the receiver, he had reduced the indebtedness over six thousand dollars.

OUR clever Brandenburg correspondent handles a wedding or a church dedication in as graceful and artistic style as do many of the best city correspondents. She does all her work well and the News is justly proud of her.

THE Democratic boys over at Hardinsburg are setting their house in order preparing to vacate Jan. 1. There is one thing that can be said of our boys, they will leave a clean house from cellar to garret. There is some consolation in this.

We entirely overlooked the fact and really beg pardon of the gentleman, who should have been mentioned as having been elected to the office of Constable by the Democrats in the Rock Vale precinct on Nov. 6. Yes, sir, we assure you that it is important.

THE editor of the Courier-Journal seems to think that the recent defeat of the Democratic party in this state was not caused through the secret ballot system of voting, but he is certainly mistaken and right now two-thirds of the party in the state would favor the return to the old viva voce system, if the question was submitted to them.

A BLOODY conflict which occurred last Sunday in Owensboro in which several young men prominent in society and in business were the leading figures and two of whom were mortally wounded lends the Messenger to remark, editorially, "There is the worst gang of young drunks in Owensboro just now that we have known in a dozen years. They are madly galloping hellward, bringing disgrace, humiliation and broken hearts to their homes. We fear the women's prayer meetings will be of little avail. If a committee of about seventy fathers of boys from seventeen to twenty-one years old, and fathers of nice young girls with whom these young reprobates are allowed to associate, should swoop down upon the saloons, gambling rooms and worse places about midnight, there might be in this town an opening of eyes that don't see because they refuse to see. There may be no hope for these a little further along in life, but something ought to be done to save these boys." A Dr. Parkhurst is needed in this city.

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder Most Perfect Made.

ROSETTA.

Dent Head is our Rosetta exquisite.

Can you hear the toot of our new mills?

Farmers are complaining of the low price of tobacco.

J. F. Board has a new boarder. Has not named her yet.

We are to have a new blacksmith. He will open out shortly.

Our boys are rejoicing over the expiration of the game law.

And Tom Anderson was elected Constable on the Republican ticket.

Will Priest has decided to name his little Republican, Richard Taylor.

Herbert Head is making a protracted visit to his sister, Mrs. Joe Atkinson.

Mrs. Ann Garner is here for the week to visit her father, Mr. G. T. Mercer.

Alex Gray, Custer, delivered a nice yoke of steers to Alfred Taylor Thursday.

Wanted some one to come and buy up our lime stone rocks. We will sell dirt cheap.

Miss Iva Carlton left Monday for Owensboro. She will attend school in that city.

Rev. Henry Hook is holding a protracted meeting at Pleasant Grove near Garfield.

Mrs. Jack Sipes is seriously ill at her husband's residence a short distance from town.

H. B. Head is in the neighborhood. He will stay close around until after Thanksgiving.

Mr. A. B. Kasey is putting a new roof on his house and A. Taylor is adding a porch to his. Our town climbs slowly.

Rev. Geo. Morris will preach us a Thanksgiving sermon at Liberty at 11 o'clock a. m. Thanksgiving day, Nov. 29.

The school children enjoyed a holiday Monday. Their teacher, Mr. Staunton Garner, being called to Grayson on urgent business.

McDonough and Yates, Flaherty, Meade county cattle dealers have been in the neighborhood. They will return Friday.

Mr. Strother Kasey has moved his family from his old home in Hardin county to his father's farm one mile from this place.

Messrs. Pickrell and Field bought one hundred cedar posts of Lemuel Dent, Sr., to be used for telegraph poles, and three hundred of G. T. Mercer for fence posts.

All the vacant houses in town are taken and one or two more are in demand. A good place to speculate, yes and do let us beg of the speculator to build us a church.

Mrs. Georgie Taylor and sister, Miss Sallie are visiting friends and relatives in Meade and Hardin counties. They took in the dedication of the Catholic church at St. Martin's in Meade.

Mr. A. B. Kasey has moved to his new residence recently purchased by him from G. T. Mercer. Mr. Mercer moved to the property at the bridge. All parties are pleased with their change.

Messrs. Pickrell and Field, of Louisville, have engaged board with G. T. Mercer for several weeks. They have contracts for several Jefferson county parties to supply them with cedar posts. They have struck the right place. This part of Breckenridge can supply more cedar lumber than any other part of the county.

Dr. Walker, Bewleyville, came over Thursday to see how many Democrats were to be buried since the 6th inst. Doctor, we are sick but have strong hopes of recovery. Feel our pulse and you will see there is a strong pulsation left. Yes we are beaten but we will show you something in '96.

It did our hearts good this week to hear from our old friend, Frank Sterett and his family in Dakota. The News says Sammie is 21 years old. Sammie was a pupil of mine during my first school year, and a brighter little pupil I have never taught. I often recall the pleasant nights spent with his father and mother during those days, and take this opportunity to send my best love to each member of the family hoping they have not forgotten me as I have not them.

Perry County Farmers' Institute.

The Perry County Farmers' Institute will be held at Tobinsport on Monday and Tuesday, December 3d and 4th, '94. A cordial invitation is extended to all Farmers and their friends of Breckenridge and adjoining counties.

The very best time is assured as the services of the best speakers in the State have been secured.

W. R. POLK, Chairman.
M. B. SANDER, Sec.

Attack of Heart Trouble.

Mrs. J. D. Brashers suffered a severe attack of heart trouble last night at the Fourth Street Presbyterian church. Dr. J. B. Lacer was called and Mrs. Brashers was soon able to be taken to her home. She was resting easily to-day.—Owensboro Inquirer, Nov. 15.

Consumption.

The incessant wasting of a consumptive can only be overcome by a powerful concentrated nourishment like Scott's Emulsion. If this wasting is checked and the system is supplied with strength to combat the disease there is hope of recovery.

Scott's Emulsion

of Cod-liver Oil, with Hypophosphites, does more to cure Consumption than any other known remedy. It is for all Affections of Throat and Lungs, Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis and Wasting. Pungent Free.

HUDSON.

DEAR EDITOR.—As this is my first letter to your valuable paper I hope it will not find a grave in the waste basket and as I have not seen anything from this place in your paper for a long time I thought I would give you a few items.

We are still needing rain, the roads are very dry and dusty.

We were visited with a nice little snow last week, though the earth was so thirsty it did not last long.

The election passed off quietly here until late in the evening when a dispute was raised between John Read and Tom Stites, of color, a few blows were the result, though neither seriously hurt. They were both under the influence of whisky.

Our streets have been thronged with drummers for a few days.

Our school is flourishing under the supervision of J. C. Lucas, we wish you success Clint.

Quite a crowd of youngsters from this vicinity went to Salt Peter Cave last Sunday, among them were: Misses Carlin Bennett, Miss Minnie Bennett, Miss Nannie Lyon, Miss May Arms, Miss Isaac Pile, and Messrs James A. Quiggins, Lan Holmes and Shelby Arms. They reported a nice time.

Quite a sensation was created in our neighborhood Monday. Miss Lee Oliver a young lady, living near this place attempted suicide by taking Rhus on Rata. Her mother missing her, mistaking some thing of the kind and went in pursuit and found her, but not until she had swallowed the deadly poison, but as medical aid was rendered at once she will perhaps recover.

Old aunt Liddle Royalty after a good ripe old age, died October 23, and was laid to rest on the 24th, on the old home farm. Aunt Liddle was in her ninety-second year.

Mrs. J. F. Arms, after a long and extended visit to relatives at Vertrus, Howe's Valley and Elizabethtown has returned home.

Mrs. Morris Arms, of Lookaburg, Ark., has been visiting Mrs. Frank Arms the past week, we welcome you Mrs. Arms in our vicinity.

Mrs. Paddie Milner living near Owensboro, died a few days ago. She formerly lived near this place and no one knew her only to love her. She leaves a husband, two children and a host of friends to mourn her loss.

Little Lula Lampton, of Elizabethtown, is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Arms.

Mr. J. D. Johnson and family contemplate visiting his brother at Philpot, Ky.

Mr. Oscar Elliott was the guest of Miss Creter Nottingham last Sunday. I think there will be a wedding soon.

Misses Nannie Lyon and Allie Quiggins attended the Teachers Association last Saturday.

Miss Amy Johnson was the guest of her brother and family, Mr. J. D. Johnson, one day this week.

Shelby and May Arms have just returned from Shrewsbury and Leitchfield where they have been visiting relatives for a few days.

Mr. George Hall passed through town last week. He still smiles at the name of Ida. Some girls think a house is no good without a Hall in it.

Mr. George Royalty is frequently seen going to West View, we think the wedding bells will chime about X-mas.

TOBINSPOET, IND.

Weather cold.
Roads dry and dusty.
Cisterns all dry and everybody hauling water.

Potatoes are moving at 55c. to flat boats.

Several of our neighbors have slaughtered their swine.

Most of the farmers are about done gathering corn.

Horace Lamb, of Patesville, was over Sunday and Monday.

The Perry County Farmers' Institute will meet here in the near future.

Lat Mitchell, of Derby, our treasurer elect was here last week hunting bondsmen.

Miss Josie Leaf, of Decatur, Ill., is here to spend the winter and return in the spring.

J. D. Cockrell and Charles Cox were the jurymen from here in Circuit Court last week.

Rev. Stephens spoke in the interest of the A. P. A. Band at the Baptist church Sunday evening.

Mrs. Nina Rogers, who has been disabled by a dislocated and broken shoulder, is improving slowly.

Wheat is looking very badly, and it is going into winter in the worst shape that it has for many years.

Dign—Mr. Osborne McKinney after a long and painful illness, died here last Friday and was buried on Saturday.

BRANDENBURG.

Mrs. B. A. Young is in Louisville.

Mrs. Jesse Mallin is convalescing slowly.

Mr. Henry Rawlings has gone to Kansas.

A protracted meeting is in progress at Cedar Grove.

Measles has made its appearance. Look for an epidemic.

Ladies' Aid met at Mrs. H. C. Woodson's on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. H. C. Woodson was in Louisville last week on a shopping tour.

Miss Dettie Clarkson will visit Miss Adams, of Danville, very soon.

Mrs. Clint Bryant and children are at Mrs. Lew Richardson's for a visit.

We are all exceedingly sorry to hear of Miss Susie Richardson's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Alexander have rooms at Mrs. Blanche Fontaine's.

Miss Fannie Clarkson and brother, Ben, were at the dedication. Ben was so nice and accommodating.

Bishop McCloskey hopes to send a priest here to take charge of the church till Father Herbut is restored to health.

Mrs. Jim Richardson doesn't know it if she's in Louisville, but we can imagine it—those pretty rooms so nicely furnished and kept.

Mr. and Mrs. Von Rhodes are house-keeping over the Messenger office. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ditto Jr., over Mr. Mason McMonigle's store.

Miss Jennie Woolfolk is gradually growing weaker. She is beautiful though, white as wax, calm, submissive and meekly awaiting the transition.

Prof. Gus Brown was here last week to see his sister, Mrs. Frank Webb, and other relatives. Give us some more Democrats like Gus and the old party will ride the billows yet.

Mrs. Suddeth, Mr. N. M. Barnett's sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Withers, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Willett, Mr. Houser and Mr. Walsch attended the Barnett-Bruner marriage and reception.

Miss Lena Gilliland has enjoyed being with old friends who were all glad to see her once more. The birds are warbling stories about Miss Lena, but these songsters are not always reliable, so will wait for an authentic "carrier."

Mr. McIntyre says we (Democrats) won't even have a ticket in '96. Well, we'll resign Carlisle (for they would rebel at a man south of Mason and Dixon,) and take Stephenson as the Messenger suggests and Mr. B. Worland is ready to stake on him for the nomination.

Mrs. J. W. Richardson is home again somewhat "scarred," but still in the fight." Ben Harrison is single and will be largely "in it" about '96. Is our handsome young dummer, J. T. Ditto, selling hats or making matches? If latter he had better ring up telephone exchange and make inquiries.

We have, literally and figuratively, been throwing rice and old slippers at brides and grooms all the autumn, but we will have thrown none more heartily than to-day, Wednesday, when we will shower Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Barnett (nee Isabel Bruner,) with these ancient emblems of good luck. At half past three o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gough's to the strains of the march from Lohengrin, rendered by Mr. George Worland, these happy hearts will be united by Rev. ——— a Presbyterian minister, of Leavenworth, Ind. Misses Agnes Mallin and Pearl Ditto will precede the couple to center of double parlors, beneath portieres looped with vines and natural flowers.

During ceremony Mr. Worland will play "Call Me Thine Own." The bride's dress is cream white tulle silk on train, garnished with ribbon and mousseline de soie. The veil, of same texture, extending from forehead to length of train.

A lower bouquet of lilies of the valley and ribbon to one side of skirt—large bows and loops at waist. Delicate lilies in cluster will be carried, white satin slippers, white gloves, fan, point lace handkerchief will make up an exquisite bridal toilet. The groom will appear in full evening dress. Miss Agnes, blue china silk. Miss Pearl, pink crepe. While congratulations are extended these young ladies will charm by the power of melody.

Mrs. Gough's lovely home is admirably adapted for entertainments. The rooms will be darkened and lighted within. The dining room will be decorated in sunlike and potted flowers. The table, in ferns and lilies of the valley.

The bride's cake, a snowy pyramid, by small wax tapers, sunlike and lilies. The dinner will be served in courses to suit the most fastidious. The bride's going-away dress is handsome, egg shell, blue cloth with hat and gloves to match.

Reception dress blue gray with hat and gloves. Other costumes and elegant wraps complete the loveliest trousseau I have seen for many a day. Many handsome presents. Isabel is a dainty blonde with wild rose complexion and expressive eyes. Even had nature been less lavish in her gifts, her sweet manner and lovely character would endear her to those who know her. Mr. N. M. Barnett, of Leavenworth, Ind., is a fine looking and exceeding popular young business man of genial disposition and affable manners. They will leave at 8 p. m. for Louisville en route to Leavenworth, where a home nest awaits them. My dear young friends, let love ever burn brightly in your hearts. Have perfect confidence, implicit faith and leave the rest to One who rules wisely.

The Free Methodists out on Millstone dedicated their house of worship to God last Sunday. Rev. J. H. Keys, of West Salem, Ill., preached the dedicatory sermon to a large crowd of people from all over the country.

About 10 o'clock last Saturday morning fire broke out on the roof of Mr. Bud Beavin's house and owing to the scarcity of water, the flames only laughed at every effort that was made to extinguish them. Fortunately the men folks were at work on the barn and by hard work most every thing was removed from the house before it burned down. This is the second time that Mr. Beavin has been burned out.

Superintendent Chas. Ainge, of the National Detective Bureau, Indianapolis, Ind., announces that two or three capable and trustworthy men are needed in this county to act as private detectives under his instructions. Experience in the work is not necessary to succeed. He will send a large criminal paper and will send it with full particulars, which will explain how you may enter the profession by addressing him at Indianapolis, Ind.

Detectives Needed Here.

A Sixteen Year-Old Fordville Boy Found Dead by the Roadside.

The Hartford Herald says: "The 16-year-old son of Sam Roberts, of Fordville, was thrown from a horse last Thursday night while returning from church, and sustained such injuries that he died Friday morning at 7 o'clock. It seems that young Roberts left church in company with other boys, and on their way home they began to run their horses, and Roberts, being the fleetest of foot, soon distanced the other horses. The boys followed on, and when they came to where there was a sudden turn in the road they found young Roberts prostrate form lying by the side of the road. He was picked up unconscious and carried home. All was done for him that could be, but to no avail."

McQUADY.

Oh! for a good rain.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson died Tuesday Nov. 13th, of that destroyer consumption.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Pate, Mattingly, visited their son, Mr. J. W. Pate, last Friday.

Mrs. June McQuady has just returned from a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. N. Sapp, Olaton, Ky.

W. D. Wilson has contracted to build a dwelling for Mr. Frank Lyons, also one for J. L. Ball.

Mrs. Joseph Smith, who has been confined to her bed for so long, died Tuesday, Nov. 13th.

J. W. Pate &amp; Co., are erecting a large blacksmith shop, and farmers supply house, at this place.

C. W. Stone, formerly of Tar Fork, moved into our town last week, which makes one more on our list of merchants.

Our town is on a boom in spite of "hard times." The saw mill here, owned by Frank &amp; Ball, is running day and night, in order to supply the material for the buildings going up in our midst.

School opening here four weeks ago and is progressing nicely under the guidance of Miss Eva Heston, Hardinsburg, who is giving universal satisfaction. We have a large and well-furnished school house, and a goodly number of pupils in attendance.
